trying all types of photography. He is from Modesto, California.

Jana Charl explores the boundaries of what defines contemporary art and blurs the lines dividing craft, commercial art, and fine art. A passionate storyteller, she examines feminist topics in her artwork and represents words with graphic bars to circumvent language barriers and allow for individualized interpretations. Charl currently resides in remote Central Oregon. janacharl.com

Savannah Cooper holds a BA in English-Creative Writing from Lincoln University and currently lives in southern Missouri with her husband, dog, and two cats. Her work has previously appeared in The Coe Review, Plenilune Magazine, and Mud Season Review.

Abby Cothran is an MFA Candidate in poetry at Texas State University.

Julia Forrest is a Brooklyn-based artist who works strictly in film and believes in working with old processing. Julia currently works as a teaching artist at the Brooklyn Museum and other universities and centers. She wants her audience to enjoy learning about photography as well as see the world in a new way and develop an interest in the arts.

Joshua Gage is an ornery curmudgeon from Cleveland. His newest chapbook, Origami Lilies, is available on Poet's Haven Press. He is a graduate of the Low Residency MFA Program in Creative Writing at Naropa University. He has a penchant for Pendleton shirts and any poem strong enough to yank the breath out of his lungs.

Dan Hasson is a photographer based in Massachusetts and a graduate of Montserrat College of Art, BFA 2001. He lives and breathes and forever chases the light in New England.

Marc Janssen is an internationally published poet and poetic activist. His work has appeared haphazardly in journals and anthologies such as Off the Coast, Cirque Journal, Penumbra, and others. He also coordinates poetry events, including the Salem Poetry Project and Salem Poetry Festival, in the Willamette Valley of Oregon.

Richard Krohn has lived much of his life on the East Coast and has spent several years in urban and rural Central America. In recent years his poetry
